II. PERFORMANCE IN THE YEAR:

1. Production and Business Performance:

In addition to production and business activities, to prepare for restructuring and divestment, the Company had to coordinate with regulatory authorities to comprehensively review all issues. Changes in asset restructuring processes and regulations caused delays in implementing the Company's plans.

The global economy shows signs of recovery after the COVID-19 pandemic, but growth is still low and always risky. Changing tax policies of major economies will also once again shift supply chains, opening up opportunities for some economies, but at the same time always posing risks due to inconsistencies in countries' policies and foreign relations.

The domestic economy is generally relatively stable, Vietnam's foreign relations have made many positive developments. From the end of 2024, the view of structure, leanness, and efficiency in all fields is valued and drastically directed from the central to local levels, which is also a positive sign for sustainable development.

Labor costs have continuously increased according to the wage reform roadmap while labor productivity has not been able to increase immediately, reducing the competitiveness of businesses. Science and technology are progressing rapidly while the company's facilities and equipment are quite outdated, and investment capital is difficult.

The company's products still have opportunities to develop business with existing customers, but the competitive pressure is great and the export group also has many potential risks related to foreign economic relations and the development of the trade war, especially for the US market area.

III. ASSESSMENT BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS ON THE COMPANY'S ACTIVITIES:

1. Assessment by the Board of Directors on Various Aspects of the Company's Activities:

In 2024, the Company's production and business activities still faced many challenges due to the unstable global economy. Regional and international trade agreements and the restructuring of the economy revealed that the Company's equipment, technology, and factories did not meet customer requirements.

In reality, in 2024, the Company's production and business activities encountered the following basic opportunities and challenges:

Opportunities:

- + Opportunities to access and deploy new products and customers.
- + Customers strongly promoted the development of new products to enhance competitiveness, creating opportunities for new development.

+ The trust of customers is higher, the company's reputation has been improved, especially IKEA customers are devoting more resources and opportunities to the Company to expect strong growth.

Challenges:

+ The Honda system strengthens supplier restructuring, increasing quality requirements, reducing prices, and shortening delivery times. The motorcycle consumption market faced difficulties, with the proportion of high-value motorcycles decreasing and low-value motorcycles increasing, leading to higher production costs compared to selling prices, reducing the efficiency of the motorcycle product group.

+ Labor costs continued to rise while labor productivity increased slowly.

+ The raw material market was relatively stable; however, some materials saw sharp price increases, and supply was very difficult.

+ Restructuring the Company's operations to create new momentum could not be implemented due to issues with current processes and procedures that are also being adjusted.

Overall, the Company's production and business activities were stable, achieving the targets set by the Board of Directors and the General Meeting of Shareholders.

Plans and Directions of the Board of Directors :

The business environment in 2025 is expected to continue to be significantly affected by globalization, technology, and changes in consumer behavior.

The global economy has recovered, but the growth rate is not high, the pressure to reduce prices, and competition is increasing. Military conflicts and wars still occur in many regions, seriously affecting the supply chain and consumption power of the market

International economic relations are still constantly changing, trade wars are becoming more and more complicated, and the expansion of scale continues to change and shift the global supply chain.

Large customers have taken actions to restructure items, supplier structures, etc. to ensure discounts. All customers have increased their requirements for price reduction, shortening time, increasing quality, and meeting the requirements of sustainable development.

Regional and global trade agreements continue to be signed and take effect, opening opportunities for exports but posing significant challenges for businesses in enhancing competitiveness.

Labor costs are rising in line with the general trend to ensure the increasing living standards of workers and the supply-demand dynamics in the labor market.

Businesses will be under stronger pressure from both governments, globally, and consumers to implement sustainability strategies. Climate change and the need to protect the environment will promote green initiatives, including recycled products, the use of renewable energy, and the reduction of carbon emissions.

The restructuring and streamlining of all organizations according to the Party's policy and the Government's direction will drastically change the work of all ministries, branches and localities, but there may also be difficulties in the unstable transition period.

The company itself must also have a drastic change, restructuring activities, applying science and technology, digital transformation, etc. according to the general direction viewpoint to improve labor productivity and operational efficiency, improve competitiveness.

Besides the difficulties, there are also certain advantages:

With the efforts of the whole company, by the end of 2024, the company's operations have also had more positive changes, some large customers have also had more trust, so the company has also had new business opportunities.

The drastic change of the whole political system will also have a strong impact on changing the perception and way of doing things of each unit and individual employee, towards improving work efficiency and competitiveness.
