PART II. OPERATIONAL SITUATION IN THE YEAR

1. PRODUCTION AND BUSINESS OPERATING SITUATION

❖ Production and Business Performance Results

In 2024, PSD's distribution activities faced many challenges in the context of businesses and consumers tightening spending. The Vietnamese economy in general, as well as all aspects of life, encountered many difficulties, especially for the business operations of domestic and foreign enterprises.

With declining demand, high market-wide inventory, strong growth of chain and e-commerce channels, shrinking traditional channel market share, and the Manufacturer's strategy focusing entirely on the chain channel at certain times, affecting other channels, maintaining phone sales became a difficult problem.

Faced with the difficult economic situation, in 2024, the Board of Directors proposed many solutions to complete production and business tasks, focusing on drastically directing to increase labor productivity and develop new potential business segments. PSD has worked closely with Manufacturers, closely accompanying agents to promptly introduce appropriate sales policies and seek new manufacturers. As a result, the business situation has improved. In addition, human resource management and risk control are particularly focused on by PSD to help business operations run stably; cost reduction is thoroughly implemented, and all efforts are focused on improving business efficiency and maintaining employment and income for employees.

Despite experiencing a year with many difficulties and challenges due to both industry factors and the general economic situation, thanks to the solidarity and efforts of all employees, and the support and trust of customers, PSD achieved the following business results:

❖ Advantages and challenges affecting the implementation of the plan compared to the previous

✓ Basic Advantages

1. PSD has received strong support and trust from manufacturers and customers, thanks to its commitment and the absolute respect for the strategies and policies of all parties involved
2. As a member unit of PETROSETCO Corporation, PSD enjoys strong financial backing. Over the years, PSD has earned the trust and high regard of banks and financial partners due to its reliable reputation and financial strength.

The team at PSD is always ready to embrace challenges and shares the common belief that big changes often start with small steps. Consequently, everyone in the organization continually strives for progress, contributing to the collective prosperity of the company.

✓ Some Key Challenges

1. Consumers are tightening their spending in the face of a difficult economy, and the diversity of digital devices like smartphones, tablets, and computers means that computers are no longer a top priority for consumers.
2. Intense competition among brands in the market has resulted in profit margins for certain product categories failing to meet the established targets, thereby increasing the risk of accounts receivable.

IT Sector:

1. Despite growth in distribution, consumers are still cutting back on spending and are not investing in high-value products, focusing instead on medium and low-cost items. In addition, the economic slowdown has made investment in project sectors more difficult.
2. Exchange rate volatility in the third quarter has impacted the cost of imports, affecting the input prices.

Mobile Phone Sector:

1. The rapid growth of chain stores and e-commerce channels is shrinking the market share of traditional channels. Manufacturers' strategies often prioritize chain stores at certain times, which affects other channels.
2. The tough economic environment and reduced consumer spending have led to fewer consumers upgrading their mobile devices, and the lifecycle of devices is extending longer.

Electronics & Home Appliances Sector

1. In 2024, the home appliance market has yet to show strong recovery after the 2023 downturn. Consumer demand is more limited, with spending mainly focused on essential items.

PART IV. BOARD OF DIRECTORS' EVALUATION

1. BOARD OF DIRECTORS' EVALUATION OF THE COMPANY'S ACTIVITIES

In 2024, PSD's distribution activities faced numerous challenges amid an economic recovery that was gradual, with manufacturing and business operations still encountering difficulties. High production costs led to tight spending by both businesses and consumers, and currency fluctuations also affected business performance.

The global economy in 2024 is showing a recovery trend, but it is slow. Inflationary pressures are gradually easing, global financial conditions remain restricted but are continuing to loosen, trade restrictions are being applied more frequently, transportation costs remain high, debt risks are still at a high level, inflation risks are increasing, and geopolitical tensions, energy security, and food security remain issues. This has impacted business operations, distribution, and has caused difficulties in the company's capital circulation. In response to this situation, the Board of Directors has issued several directives for the management to implement in order to ensure stable business operations, uninterrupted capital circulation, and the generation of revenue and profit according to the planned targets.

Additionally, the Board of Directors introduced various solutions aimed at fulfilling the business and production goals, focusing on improving labor productivity, and developing new business sectors with potential. Special attention was paid to human resource management and risk control to ensure smooth and stable business operations. Cost-cutting measures were fully implemented, with the highest efforts directed towards improving business efficiency while maintaining employment and ensuring worker income.
