2.5. Types of foreign exchange rates applied in accounting

Foreign currency transactions during the period are converted into VND at the actual exchange rate on the transaction date.

The actual exchange rate for transactions in foreign currency occurring during the period:

- The exchange rate used to record accounts receivable is the buying rate of the designated commercial bank where the company's customers settle at the time of transaction occurrence;
- The exchange rate used to record accounts payable is the selling rate of the commercial bank where the company intends to transact at the time of transaction occurrence;

The actual exchange rate when revaluing monetary items denominated in foreign currency at the reporting date of the consolidated financial statements:

- For items classified as assets, the buying rate of the commercial bank where the company regularly conducts transactions is applied.
- For foreign currency deposits, the buying rate of the bank where the company holds the foreign currency account is applied;
- For items classified as accounts payable, the selling rate of the commercial bank where the company regularly conducts transactions is applied.

All actual exchange rate differences arising during the period and differences due to revaluation of year-end balances of monetary items denominated in foreign currency are recognized in the operating results of the accounting period. In which, gain from the exchange rate differences resulting from revaluation of the year-end balance of monetary items dominated in foreign currencies is not used to distribute profits or pay dividends.

2.6. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash comprises cash on hand, bank deposits.

Cash equivalents are short-term investments of no more than 03 months that can be easily converted into cash and do not have much risk of conversion into cash from the date of purchase of that investment.

2.7. Financial investments

Trading securities: are initially recorded in the accounting books at cost, including purchase price plus purchase costs (if any) such as brokerage, transaction, information provision, taxes, fees, and banking fees. After initial recognition, trading securities are measured at historical cost less allowance for decline in value of trading securities. When liquidating or selling, the cost of trading securities is determined according to the FIFO method.

Held to maturity investments: include Term deposits in the bank (including bills, promissory notes), bonds, preferred shares that the issuer is obligated to repurchase, at a certain point in the future, loans... held to maturity for the purpose of earning periodic interest, and other held-to-maturity investments.

Investments in subsidiaries, associates and other investments: Investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures, and associates purchased during the period are determined at the purchase date, the cost of the investment, and the accounting procedures carried out in accordance with the provisions of Accounting Standard "Consolidation business" and "Investment in associates".

Investments in equity instruments of other entities: include Investments in equity instruments of another entity that do not control, jointly control, or have significant influence over the investee. The initial carrying amount of these investments are measured at cost. After initial recognition, these investments are measured at cost less allowance for investment loss.

Dividends received in shares are only recorded as the number of shares received, not as an increase in investment value and financial income.

Allowances for losses on investments in equity instruments of other entities are made as follows:

- For trading securities investments: The basis for making allowances is the difference between the historical cost of the investments recorded in the accounting books and their market value at the time of making the allowances.
- For investments that are held for a long time (not classified as trading security) and have no significant influence on the company: If the investment in listed shares or the fair value of the investment can be determined reliably, the allowances are based on the market value of shares; if the investment cannot determine their fair value at the time of the statement, the allowances are made based on the financial statements at the time of making allowances of the company.
- For investments held to maturity: Based on recoverability to make provision for doubtful debts as prescribed by law.

2.8. Receivables

Receivables are recorded in detail by term, entity, original currency and other factors according to the company's management.

Provisions for doubtful debts are made from the following items: overdue receivables recorded in sales contracts, loan agreements, contractual commitments, debt and receivables commitments that have not yet due for payment but are difficultly to be recovered. The provisions for doubtful debts are made for each doubtful debt based on the age of overdue debts or expected losses that may occur. In which, the provisions for overdue receivables are based on the principal repayment period according to the original sales contract and receivables that have not yet due for payment but the customers've gone bankrupt or is in the process of dissolution, missing or absconding.

2.9. Inventories

Inventories are reported at historical cost include: purchasing, processing, and other directly attributable costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. After initial recognition, at the time of preparation of the consolidated financial statements, if the net realizable value of inventories is lower than cost, the inventories are recognized at net realizable value.

The method of calculating the value of inventory is determined by the monthly weighted average method.

Inventory is accounted for using the periodic inventory system.

Method of determining the value of work in progress at the end of the year: Work in progress is collected for each work that has not been completed or revenue has not been recorded, corresponding to the amount of work in progress at the end of the period.

The allowances for a devaluation of inventories are made for each item of inventories with a historical cost greater than the net realizable value

2.10. Fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets, intangible fixed assets are stated at the historical cost. During the using time, tangible fixed assets, intangible fixed are recorded at cost, accumulated depreciation and residual value.

Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis, based on each asset's expected useful life. Detailed as follows:

- Buildings and structures	04 - 45 year
- Machinery and equipment	03 - 25 year
- Means of transportation	06 - 15 year
- Office equipment	03 - 10 year

2.17. Owner's equity

Contributed capital of the owner is recorded according to the actually contributed capital of the owner.

Other capital is formed by supplementing the results of business operations, revaluation of assets and the remaining value between the fair value of donated, presented, and sponsored assets after deducting taxes payable (if any) related to these assets (if allowed to record an increase or decrease in owner's capital).

Undistributed profits are determined on the basis of business results (profits or losses) after corporate income tax and the company's situation of profit distribution or loss handling. The distribution of profits to owner is determined when the company has undistributed profit after corporate income tax that does not exceed the undistributed profit after corporate income tax on the consolidated Financial Statements after excluding unrealised exchange gains as at the balance sheet date. In case of paying dividends, profits to owners exceeding the undistributed profit after corporate income tax are recorded as a decrease in capital contribution. Undistributed after-tax profits can be divided among investors based on the capital contribution ratio after approval by the General Meeting of Shareholders/Board of Directors and after funds have been appropriated according to the Company's Charter and regulations of Vietnamese law.

Dividends payable to shareholders are recorded as payables on the company's consolidated Balance Sheet after the dividend payment notice of the company's Board of Directors and the announcement of dividend payment deadline of Viet Nam Securities Depository and Clearing Corporation (VSDC).

34. COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Representing figures on the Balance Sheet are taken from audited Consolidated Financial Statements for the fiscal year ended 31 December 2024 by CPA Vietnam Auditing Company Limited. Comparative figures on the Income Statement and Cash Flow Statement are compared with the Consolidated Financial Statements of the same period in 2024 that have been disclosed.

35. EXPLANATION OF INCOME STATEMENT

The net profit after corporate income tax index on the Consolidated Income Statement for Quarter I 2025 was a loss of VND 43.9 billion, VND 4.3 billion higher than that of Quarter I 2024, due to the following reasons:

1. Revenue from sale of goods and rendering of services in Quarter I 2025 reached nearly VND 134 billion, an increase of VND 15.3 billion, equivalent to an increase of 13% over the same period in 2024. Cost of goods sold and service rendered in Quarter I 2025 reached VND 93.7 billion, an increase of VND 5.8 billion compared to Quarter I 2024, equivalent to an increase of 7%; therefore, Gross profit from sale of goods and rendering of services in Quarter I 2025 reached VND 34.7 billion, an increase of VND 4.7 billion, equivalent to an increase of 16% over the same period last year.
2. Financial income in this period reached VND 2.1 billion, down VND 4.5 billion compared to the same period last year, mainly due to a decrease in interest on bank deposits and lending interest.

3. Selling expenses in this period reached nearly VND 26.3 billion, up VND 4.6 billion, equivalent to an increase of 21% compared to the same period last year, mainly due to the Company promoted marketing activities to launch new products on the occasion of Lunar New Year such as Trang Tien Chung Cake.
