IV. PRINCIPLES FOR ELECTION OF ADDITIONAL MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISION

1. The voting is carried out by the cumulative voting method, whereby each shareholder has a total number of votes corresponding to the total number of shares owned multiplied by the number of elected members of the Board of Supervisors. Shareholders have the right to accumulate all their votes for one candidate or divide their votes among several candidates.

- a. The number of candidates for additional election to the Board of Supervisors at the 2025 General Meeting of Shareholders is 01 (one) member, accordingly the total number of votes of each shareholder is equal to the total number of shares owned multiplied (x) by 01 (one).

2. The total number of votes for a candidate of a shareholder shall not exceed the total number of votes allowed of that shareholder (equal to the number of shares multiplied by the number of members elected).

Example of cumulative voting principle:

- Shareholder A owns 1,000 (one thousand) voting shares and will have $1,000 \times 1 = 1,000$ votes to elect members of the Board of Supervisors.
- According to the cumulative voting method, shareholder A can vote in one of the following cases, provided that the total number of votes does not exceed 1,000 votes for members of the Board of Supervisors.
 - + Equal number of votes for all members of the Board of Supervisors;
 - + Or vote a different number of votes for each candidate for the Board of Supervisors

3. Determine the percentage (%) of votes

The percentage (%) of votes of an election candidate is determined by the following formula:

$$\% \text{ of votes} = \frac{\text{Total number of shares elected}}{\text{Total number of shares present on valid ballot}} * \text{Number of members to be elected}$$

4. Shareholders who vote for a candidate write the number of votes they want to vote for that candidate in the "Number of votes" column.

5. If a shareholder does not vote for one or more candidates, leave the "Number of votes" column blank or cross it out.

6. The total number of votes for candidates of a shareholder shall not exceed the total number of votes allowed by that shareholder (equal to the number of shares multiplied by the number of members elected).

V. REGULATIONS ON VOTING

The ballot is pre-printed with a code corresponding to the shareholder code and number of shares held, with the Corporation's seal stamped in the upper left corner of the ballot.

1. Valid ballot

- The ballot is issued by the Congress Organizing Committee according to the unified form with the Corporation's seal as prescribed above, not scraped, erased, crossed out or erased;
- The total number of votes of shareholders for candidates is equal to or less than the total number of voting rights of shareholders;

2. Invalid ballot:

An invalid ballot is a ballot that violates one of the following conditions:

- Not issued by the Organizing Committee, not stamped by the Corporation.
- Blank ballot
- The ballot paper is arbitrarily filled with names of people not on the list or crossed out;

VI. WINNER:

1. The elected member of the Board of Supervisors is the one with the number of votes counted from high to low, starting from the candidate with the highest number of votes until the required number of members is reached.

2. If there are many candidates with equal number of votes, making it impossible to choose the required number of candidates, then the number of candidates must be re-elected to choose the remaining number after the candidates with higher number of votes have been elected. The re-election still follows the principle of cumulative voting.

3. Any complaints about the election results will only be considered at the General Meeting, shareholders may not object to this validity at any other time. In case of disagreement about the election procedures or results, the Ballot Counting Committee will re-examine and consult the General Meeting for decision.

VII. ANNOUNCEMENT OF ELECTION RESULTS

1. Based on the Minutes of the vote counting, the election results of the members of the Board of Supervisors are announced by the Vote Counting Committee right at the Congress.

2. This result will be recorded in the Resolution of the Congress.
