received in shares are only recorded as the number of shares increased, not the value of the shares received.

Provision for losses on investments in equity instruments of other entities is made as follows:

For investments in listed shares or the fair value of the investment is reliably determined, the provision is made based on the market value of the shares.

For investments whose fair value cannot be determined at the reporting date, the provision is made based on the loss of the investee with the provision equal to the difference between the actual capital contribution of the parties at the other entity and the actual equity multiplied by the Company's capital contribution ratio compared to the total actual capital contribution of the parties at the other entity.

Increase or decrease in the provision for losses on investments in equity instruments of other entities that need to be made at the end of the fiscal year is recorded in financial expenses.

4.5 Receivables

Receivables are monitored in detail by receivable term, receivable subject, original currency and other factors according to the Company's management needs.

Receivables are made according to the following principles:

- Customer receivables reflect commercial receivables arising from purchase-sale transactions between the Company and buyers (independent units of the seller, including receivables between parent companies and subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates).
- Other receivables reflect receivables that are not commercial in nature and are not related to buy-sell transactions.

Customer receivables and other receivables are classified as foreign currency-denominated monetary items, revalued at the actual exchange rate on the reporting date.

Customer receivables and other receivables are recorded at original cost less provision for doubtful debts. Provision for doubtful debts is made for each doubtful debt based on the overdue period of principal payment according to the original debt commitment (excluding debt extension between the parties), or the expected level of loss that may occur.

Receivables are classified as short-term and long-term in the financial statements based on the remaining term of the receivables at the reporting date.

4.6 Inventories

Inventories are determined on the basis of original cost, in case the original cost of inventories is higher than the net realizable value, it must be calculated according to the net realizable value. The original cost of inventories includes the cost of direct materials, direct labor costs and those overheads (if any) that have been incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Net realizable value is determined by the estimated selling price less the costs of completion and the costs of marketing, selling and distribution incurred.

Inventory accounting method: Regular declaration

Inventory cost determination method: Weighted average

Notes to the Financial Statements are an integral part of the Financial Statements

Provision for devaluation of the Company's inventories is made when there is reliable evidence of a decline in net realizable value compared to the original cost of the inventories.

4.7 Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation.

The cost of tangible fixed assets includes all costs incurred by the Company to acquire the fixed assets up to the date when the assets are ready for use. Expenditures incurred after initial recognition are only recorded as an increase in the cost of fixed assets if it is certain that they will result in future economic benefits from the use of the assets. Expenditures that do not satisfy the above conditions are recorded as production and business expenses in the period.

When tangible fixed assets are sold or liquidated, their cost and accumulated depreciation are written off and any gain or loss arising from their disposal is recognized as income or expenses in the year.

Tangible fixed assets are depreciated using the straight-line method based on cost and estimated useful life.

The estimated useful life of tangible fixed assets is as follows:

- Machinery and equipment 07 years

4.8 Construction in progress

Assets under construction for production, rental, administrative purposes or for any other purpose are stated at cost. This includes service costs and related interest costs in accordance with the Company's accounting policy. Depreciation of these assets, on the same basis as other assets, commences when the assets are ready for their intended use.

4.9 Payables

Payables are monitored in detail by payment term, payable entity, original currency and other factors according to the Company's management needs.

Payables are made according to the following principles:

- Payables to suppliers include commercial payables arising from transactions of purchasing goods, services, assets and sellers (independent units from the buyer, including payables between parent companies and subsidiaries, joint ventures, associates);
- Other payables include non-commercial payables, not related to transactions of purchasing, selling, providing goods and services.

Payables to suppliers and other payables are recorded at cost. Payables to suppliers and other payables are classified as foreign currency-denominated monetary items, revalued at the actual exchange rate on the reporting date.

When preparing financial statements, accountants base on the remaining term of payables to classify them as long-term or short-term. When there is evidence that a loss is likely to occur, accountants immediately record a payable according to the principle of prudence.
