OVERCOMING CHALLENGES | SEIZING OPPORTUNITIES

Dear esteemed Shareholders, Investors, Customers, Partners and Employees of City Auto Joint Stock Company,

In 2024, City Auto has undergone a period of strong transformation amidst the volatile auto market and economy. Thanks to the tireless efforts and determination of all employees, along with the support and trust from shareholders, customers and partners, we have overcome these challenges to complete the plan set out in the annual general meeting of shareholders.

The company's board of directors has proposed a series of solutions to optimize business operations and improve operational efficiency, as well as minimize negative impacts from the auto market, while improving production processes and customer service. These reforms not only brought benefits during the year but also shaped the future of City Auto in a competitive business market.

Entering 2025, City Auto is ready to seize new opportunities to continue its development journey. One of the important strategic decisions we made at the end of 2024 was to merge VW Tan Thuan Joint Stock Company - which owns the Volkswagen brand - into City Auto. Over the years, City Auto has built a solid foundation in distributing popular car lines such as Ford and Hyundai. The addition of the Volkswagen luxury car brand from VW Tan Thuan will be a lever for City Auto to expand into the mid-high-end segment, where the growth potential in the Vietnamese market is growing every year.

With a long-term vision and a clear development strategy, City Auto is committed to continuing to strive for innovation and sustainable development, constantly improving service quality and experience. We believe that, with solidarity and continuous efforts, City Auto will continue to grow strongly in the future, always aiming to bring the highest value to all stakeholders, affirming its position in the automobile industry in Vietnam.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all shareholders, customers, and partners who have always trusted and accompanied City Auto over the past time. Your support and companionship are a strong motivation to help us overcome all challenges and seize development opportunities.

Chairman of the Board of Directors
Tran Ngoc Dan

Overview of the global and Vietnamese auto industry in 2024

Global auto industry - Trends and shifts

2024 was a fluctuating year for the global auto industry with many important changes in technology, markets and consumer trends. The rise of electric vehicles, the expansion of Chinese automakers and economic challenges have reshaped the industry landscape.

Sales growth and market shifts

According to data from CarBuzz, global new car sales in 2024 reached an impressive level, with prominent contributions from major markets such as China, the US and India. China continued to lead with 31.46 million vehicles sold, reflecting strong demand for compact engine models and electric vehicles. In the US, sales reached 15.97 million vehicles, up 2.2% year-on-year, with the electric vehicle segment recording significant growth with 1.3 million units sold. India also emerged as a bright spot with 4.27 million units sold, showing the booming economy and increasing demand for personal vehicles.

The rise of electric vehicles and the greening trend

2024 saw a sharp increase in electric vehicles globally. According to the International Energy Association (IEA), electric vehicle sales could reach around 17 million units in 2024, accounting for more than 1/5 of all cars sold worldwide. China continued to lead the field, with automakers such as BYD contributing significantly to sales. In the US, Tesla remained the leader with its Y and 3 models, although its market share has dropped to 49% due to increased competition from other manufacturers such as GM, Ford and Honda.

The expansion of Chinese automakers

2024 marked a sharp expansion of Chinese automakers into the global market. In Vietnam, up to 7 new automakers from China will enter the market, bringing the total number of Chinese car brands here to 13, surpassing even Japan. Companies like BYD, GAC, Omoda & Jaecoo introduced many new models, from gasoline, hybrid to pure electric, with competitive prices and modern technology. However, they still faced the challenge of building trust with consumers in new markets.

Online car buying and subscription services

The trend of online car buying continues to grow, with global sales through online channels reaching around 7.1 - 7.3 million units. Consumers, especially the younger generation who love technology, increasingly prefer to buy cars through online platforms due to their convenience and transparency. In addition, the car subscription model has also attracted attention, allowing users to flexibly use a vehicle without owning it, meeting diverse travel needs and reducing financial burden.

Challenges and prospects

Despite many achievements, the global automotive industry still faces many challenges. According to Reuters, Bosch CEO - Stefan Hartung predicted that growth in the global car and commercial vehicle market will slow down this year and next, due to lower-than-expected demand and increased competition from Asian manufacturers. In addition, the transition to electric vehicles also puts great pressure on infrastructure investment and technology development. However, with continuous innovation and rapid adaptation, the automotive industry is expected to continue to develop and meet the increasing needs of consumers.

Vietnam's Automobile industry - Challenges and potentials

2024 marked a period of strong development for the Vietnamese automobile industry. The recovery after the COVID-19 pandemic, along with the Government's support policies and fierce competition between automakers, has created a colorful picture for the domestic automobile market.

Growth and competition

After the difficulties caused by the pandemic, the Vietnamese automobile market has quickly recovered and achieved impressive growth. Sales have increased, especially for passenger cars and SUVs. Product diversification, along with attractive promotions from automakers, has attracted the attention of consumers

The number of imported cars in 2024 continues to increase, creating fierce competition with domestically assembled cars. Imported car models, especially from Thailand and Indonesia, have competitive prices and benefit from free trade agreements. This poses a challenge for domestic manufacturers to improve quality and compete on price.

Highlights of Vietnamese car brands

One of the highlights of the Vietnamese car market in 2024 was the development of domestic car brands, typically VinFast. With the VF8 and VF9 electric car models, VinFast has created a fever in the market and affirmed its position on the world car map.

The domestic car manufacturing industry is still in the process of development. Some domestic assembly plants operate effectively, contributing to job creation and boosting the economy. However, the localization rate is still low, depending heavily on imported components. The government is continuing to implement policies to support domestic car production, encourage businesses to invest in research and development, increase the localization rate, and aim for export.

Electric vehicle trend - Great potential, not small challenges

The electric vehicle market in Vietnam is showing promising initial steps of development. Consumer interest in electric vehicles is increasing, along with car manufacturers continuously introducing new models with advanced technology. However, the slow development of charging infrastructure and the high price of electric vehicles compared to people's income are major challenges that need to be overcome. Government policies to support the development of electric vehicles, such as tax reductions and support for the installation of charging stations, are expected to boost the electric vehicle market in the coming time.

Future prospects

Despite many difficulties, the Vietnamese automobile industry is still considered to have great potential for development in the future. Economic growth, increasing demand for personal cars, along with government support will be the driving force for the development of the industry. Promoting domestic production, increasing the localization rate, developing the electric vehicle market, and improving transport infrastructure will be key factors for the sustainable development of the Vietnamese automobile industry in the coming years. However, the industry also needs to flexibly adapt to fluctuations in the global market, promote technological innovation, and improve competitiveness to affirm its position on the world automobile map.

City Auto in 2025 - Overcoming challenges, seizing opportunities

In 2025, City Auto aims to continue strong growth and sustainable development through network expansion, product diversification, service improvement, and optimization of operational efficiency. The company's strategic orientation is built on key pillars:

Revenue and financial growth

Revenue growth:

City Auto aims for revenue growth of over 10% from the Ford and Hyundai brand groups with the existing showroom system. At the same time, the Volkswagen brand from VW Tan Thuan joint stock company, which has just been merged since January 2025, will contribute an additional VND 1,500 billion in revenue, helping the company achieve its goal of expanding its scale and increasing its market share.

Reducing financial costs:

The Company will restructure credit relationships and adjust outstanding debt reasonably to optimize cash flow, minimize interest expenses, and at the same time improve financial efficiency and increase profits.

Expanding network and infrastructure

Continuing to expand the showroom and service workshop system in areas with high growth potential, especially large cities and developing areas.

Leverage Volkswagen's advantage to increase presence in premium segments, while strengthening Ford and Hyundai's position in the mass segment.

Improve operational efficiency

Deploy digital solutions in business management, improve data analysis capabilities and optimize business decisions.

Optimize workflows, increase labor productivity and cut unnecessary operating costs.

Apply new technology to warehouse management, logistics and customer service to improve efficiency and reduce waste.

Diversify products and improve services

Update new car models:

Continuously expand the product portfolio, bringing in the latest car models from Ford, Hyundai and Volkswagen to meet the diverse needs of customers.

Improve the quality of after-sales service:

Improve customer care processes, shorten maintenance and repair times, and deploy warranty packages and value-added services to enhance customer experience.

Increase interaction with customers through social networks, organize car launch events, real-life experience programs and attractive incentives.

City Auto's medium and long-term strategy

In a competitive market like the automotive industry, having a medium and long-term strategy is the key to a business's survival and development. City Auto on its journey to become the leading car distributor in Vietnam constantly faces challenges and opportunities in the process of business development. To ensure future success and sustainability, the company's leaders has developed a detailed and comprehensive strategy, focusing on specific goals and action measures to implement.

Continue to increase market share and business results, research the market to identify areas with potential for development, seek strategic partners inside and outside the automotive industry for cooperation, build and expand the dealer network in new areas, diversify models, services, and business items related to automobiles, contributing to increasing sustainable revenue year by year.

Expanding new brands and increasing product line options to suit customers' needs and budgets. This helps create new business opportunities, diversify the Company's revenue sources and increase competitiveness in the automotive industry.

Implement a reasonable dividend policy to ensure the interests of shareholders and at the same time have a source of accumulated profits to supplement capital for business operations. A stable and regular source of dividends helps increase the reliability and satisfaction of shareholders while enhancing business efficiency to create a stable and sustainable source of profit for the enterprise.

Continuously improve technology and infrastructure, upgrade investment in machinery and equipment to optimize performance and reduce production costs. The system of factories, showrooms, offices and information technology systems are also improved and newly built to ensure that the Company's production and business activities always take place flexibly and effectively.

Implement a consistent business development strategy in the direction of harmonizing the interests of customers, partners, shareholders, employees and the sustainable value of the company. City Auto is committed to creating value for all stakeholders and maintaining a positive and sustainable working environment.

Effectively manage human resources and implement social responsibility, while committing to comply with regulations and standards on social responsibility. The company always emphasizes the maintenance and enhancement of human resources in training along with environmental responsibility in sharing contributions to the community and society.

Opportunities and challenges affecting the Company's business activities

The strong development of the Vietnam automobile industry in recent years has positively contributed to the country's economic development and created many new opportunities for businesses. Economic growth along with individual's income increases, so the demand for car ownership is continuously increasing year by year, creating a vibrant and potential market in Asia. Therefore, the level of competition in the automobile industry is also becoming more and more pressured.

Competition not only concentrates on providing quality and diverse car models but also includes after-sales services, warranty policies, and pricing strategies. Manufacturers also continuously invest in research and development of new technologies to meet increasing market demands and create long-term competitive advantages.

City Auto's opportunities in the automobile market

01

Market share growth as the auto market has the potential to go up strongly due to rising demand from consumers in Vietnam. This creates a great opportunity for City Auto to expand market share and increase sales year by year.

03

Providing better customer service and creating a positive shopping experience can create a competitive advantage and assist City Auto attract more new customers and retain old customers.

02

Diverse and innovative products, broadening the product portfolio and introducing new car models can help City Auto attract diverse customer segments and increase the business's presence in the market.

04

Opportunities to cooperate, develop long-term cooperation agreements to share resources and experiences with strategic partners such as automobile manufacturers or financial corporates can open up new opportunities for City Auto, from product development to enhancing financial services for customers.

Challenges the Company needs to conquer

Competition in the auto industry among distributors is not only about price but also about product quality, service and marketing strategy. Comprehending and accommodating customer demands is the decisive factor to win in this competition, requiring City Auto to have an effective marketing and service strategy to attract and retain customers since the market has many choices, especially with increasing requirements for quality and professionalism.

New technical trends and technologies such as electric vehicles and self-driving cars need to be continuously updated and researched to ensure the Company promptly grasps general trends and has appropriate business strategies to serve customers.

Consumer demands are becoming more and more diverse, the Company regularly conducts surveys and market research to apprehend changes in customer needs and priorities, thereby adjusting product strategies and marketing to reflect these amendments.

Economic fluctuations need to be actively monitored and continuously forecasted to quickly get ready future contingency plans. Simultaneously, City Auto also has the business strategy to diversify product lines and expand into new markets to minimize risks from economic fluctuations.

Regulations and policies related to the auto industry are periodically updated to ensure that the Company's business operations are always carried out legally, effectively, with products and services accurately reflects market and consumer demands.

City Auto always positions itself to be ready seizing opportunities in a constantly changing and challenging automobile market. By continuously improving competitiveness, optimizing operational processes and enhancing creativity to invent greater value for customers and businesses, the Company is on the journey towards sustainable success in the future.

III. RISK MANAGEMENT

05	Risk of business operations	Medium

In 2025, City Auto faces many risks that may affect the business operations, finance and development strategy. Analyzing key risks and developing control measures play an important role to the business plan for the year.

1. Market & Macroeconomic risks

Economic recession, reduced consumer demand:

Risk identification:

- Slowing economic growth can affect car buying demand as consumers tighten spending, leading to a decrease in car sales.

Control solutions:

- Diversify product portfolio, add car lines with prices suitable for many customer segments.
- Promote financial incentive programs for car buyers such as interest rate support, flexible installment payments.
- Increase marketing towards target customer groups with stable purchasing power.

Exchange rate and interest rate fluctuations:

Risk identification:

- The appreciation of the USD can increase the cost of importing cars and components.
- High lending interest rates increase financial costs, affecting profits.

Risk management

- Negotiate with suppliers to fix prices or receive price support when exchange rates fluctuate.
- Expand cooperation with banks to have flexible financial policies, reducing the impact of high interest rates.
- Build financial reserve funds to minimize the impact of exchange rate fluctuations.

2. Industry competitive risks

Risk identification:

- Other car manufacturers are constantly launching new products and launching attractive promotional campaigns.
- The trend of switching to electric vehicles puts traditional gasoline vehicles at risk of losing sales.

Risk management:

- Improve business strategies, focus on after-sales services and better customer experience.
- Update and expand the electric vehicle portfolio to keep up with market trends.
- Invest in technology and digital experiences, making it easier for customers to access products and services.

3. Financial risks

Risk identification:

- Financial market instability is at risk of affecting the Company's business cash flow due to difficulties from customers and partners.
- Mobilized capital is affected by tightening regulations on lending from credit institutions/investment funds.
- Risks of fluctuations in deposit interest rates, mobilization, stock price fluctuations, etc.

Risk management:

- Assess the financial capacity of partners before investing, strictly manage receivables from customers, and implement effective debt collection policies.
- Diversify capital sources mobilized from investors, domestic and foreign financial institutions, etc.
- Continuously update credit policies, new legal documents related to the banking system, and credit information to promptly adjust capital mobilization activities accordingly.

4. Legal and compliance risks

Risk identification:

- Changes in policies and legal regulations, lack of guidance, and ambiguity may affect the Company's business plans and operations.
- Risks may occur when employees violate or do not comply with the provisions of the law, violate the Company's regulations, etc.

Risk management:

- Update and research the application of new regulations to ensure effective business operations in the spirit of legal compliance.
- Issue and amend internal management regulations in accordance with changes and developments of the Company and the external environment, especially the current legal policy system.
- Manage by regulations on security, information security, and internal monitoring, inspection and control processes and procedures.

5. Business operational risks

Risk identification:

- Media and brand risks when the media reports unfavorable information or products and services do not meet the expectations of customers and investors.
- Information technology system risks affecting the continuity of business operations; security, etc.
- Risk of personnel fluctuations, especially skilled personnel in repair and maintenance of automotive services.

Risk management:

- Evaluate and rank media crises/negative information according to levels to have the fastest response solutions.
- Training on information security policies, implementing digital transformation in enterprises.
- Review and apply competitive compensation, salary and bonus policies compared to the market.
- Organize soft skills and professional skills training programs to improve the capacity of staff.

Ho Chi Minh City, 31 March 2025
On behalf of The Board of General Directors
CHAIRMAN

TRAN NGOC DAN

Independent auditor's report

To: Shareholders, The Administrative Council and the Board of General Directors City Auto Corporation

We have audited the consolidated financial statements of City Auto Corporation ("the Company"), which were prepared on 31 March 2025, set out on page 69 to page 105, consisting of consolidated Balance Sheet as at 31 December 2024, consolidated Income statement, consolidated Cash flow statement for the fiscal year ended on the same date and Notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Responsibilities of The Board of General Directors

The Board of General Directors of the Company is responsible for the honest and reasonable preparation and presentation of the Company's consolidated financial statements in accordance with Vietnamese accounting standards, Vietnamese (corporate) accounting regime and legal regulations related to to the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error; selecting and applying appropriate accounting policies; and making accounting estimates that are reasonable in the circumstances.

Auditors' responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Vietnamese Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirement and plan and perform the audit in order to obtain reasonable assurance as to whether the Consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the Consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessment, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the Company's preparation and fair presentation of the Consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by The Board of General Directors, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Auditor's opinion

In our opinion the accompanying consolidated financial statements give a true and fair view of, in all material respects the consolidated financial position of the Company at 31 December 2024, and the consolidated operations results and cash flows for the fiscal year ended on that date, in accordance with accounting standards, Vietnamese corporate accounting regime and legal regulations related to the preparation and presentation of consolidated financial statements.

- Circular 202/2014/TT-BTC dated 22/12/2014 of the Ministry of Finance on guiding methods of preparing and presenting consolidated financial statements.

IV. Applicable accounting policies

1. Principles for determining monetary amounts

• Principles of determining cash and bank deposits

This is an indicator reflecting the entire amount of the Company's existing cash at the reporting time, including: Cash at the enterprise's fund, demand deposits with banks and money in transit.

• Principles of determining cash equivalents

These are short-term investments not exceeding 3 months that are readily convertible to cash and are subject to an insignificant risk of conversion to cash from the date of acquisition at the reporting time.

• Principles and methods of converting other currencies

For cash at the reporting time, the enterprise revaluates the foreign currency balance according to the principle: The actual transaction rate applied when revaluating the cash balance in foreign currency is the foreign currency buying rate of the Company with the commercial bank where the enterprise regularly conducts transactions (selected by the enterprise) at the time of preparing the financial statements.

For bank deposits at the time of making financial statements, enterprises revalue foreign currency balances according to the following principles: Actual exchange rate applied when revaluating bank deposit balances in foreign currencies is foreign currency buying rate of the commercial bank where the enterprise opens a foreign currency account at the time of making financial statements. In case an enterprise has many foreign currency accounts at many different banks and the buying rates of the banks do not have significant differences, it is possible to choose the buying rate of one of the banks where the enterprise opens the account foreign currency as a basis for revaluation.

2. Accounting principles for accounts receivable

Recognition principle: Including receivables from customers, prepayments to sellers, internal receivables and other receivables at the reporting time.

Receivables are classified according to the following principles:

- Receivables from customers: trade receivables arising from trading transactions between the Company and buyers such as sales of goods, provision of services, liquidation/transfer of assets, proceeds from the sale of goods export goods of the entrusting party through the trustee;
- Internal receivables: receivables between superior units and subordinate units without legal status, dependent accounting;
- Other receivables: receivables of non-commercial nature, unrelated to sales transactions.

Receivables are classified when preparing financial statements according to the following principles:

- Having a collection or payment period of less than 01 year which is classified as short-term;
- Having a collection or payment term of more than 01 year is classified as long-term.

Provision for bad debts: bad debts are made provision when preparing financial statements. This provision is made or reversed at the time of preparation of the financial statements and is recognized in general and administrative expenses in the period.

3. Accounting policy for inventories

• Principles of inventories valuation

Storage products are paid to the original price. In case the net realizable value is lower than the original cost, it must be calculated according to the net realizable value. Cost of inventory includes the cost of purchasing, processing, and other directly attributable costs incurred to bring the inventory in its current location and condition.

• Method of determining the value of ending inventory

The company calculates the value of its inventory using the weighted average method. Particularly for goods being automobiles, the export price is determined by the actual method.

• Method of accounting for inventories

The Company applies the perpetual declaration method to accounting for inventories.

• Making provision for devaluation of inventories

Provisions for inventories are made for the expected loss in value due to possible impairments in the value of supplies, finished goods, and inventories under the ownership of the enterprise on reasonable evidence of impairment at the balance sheet date. The increase or decrease in the provision for devaluation of inventories is transferred to cost of goods sold during the period.

4. Recognition and depreciation of fixed assets

• Principles of recognition of tangible and intangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are stated at cost, accumulated depreciation and carrying amount of fixed assets. The cost of a fixed asset includes its purchase price and directly attributable costs of bringing the asset to its intended working condition. Expenses for acquisition, improvement and refurbishment are converted into fixed assets, while maintenance and repair costs are charged to the income statement. When assets are sold or disposed of, their cost and accumulated depreciation are closed and any gain or loss arising from the disposal is included in the income statement in accordance with the provisions of this Circular. Circular 45/2013/TT- BTC of the Ministry of Finance.

Accounting Software

Software is initially recognized at purchase and is amortized using the straight-line method over its estimated useful life of 3 years.

• Depreciation method of tangible and intangible fixed assets

Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method, deducting the cost of fixed assets over their estimated useful life. Depreciation rate is applied to gradually deduct the original cost of fixed assets, estimated time as follows:

Assets	Time
Buildings, structures	25 years
Machineries, equipments	05 - 06 years
Transportations, transmit instruments	05 - 06 years
Office tools, equipments	03 - 05 years
Software	03 - 05 years

5. Prepaid Expense Allocation Method

Prepaid expenses, if they are only related to the current financial year, are recorded in production and business expenses in the fiscal year.

The following expenses have been incurred during the financial year but are charged to long-term prepaid expenses to gradually amortize into business results over many years:

- Tools and export tools of great value;
- Large repair costs incurred once too large, ...

The calculation and allocation of long-term prepaid expenses to production and business expenses in each accounting period is based on the nature and extent of each type of expense to select a reasonable allocation method and criteria;

Classify:

- Short-term prepaid expenses: The amount prepaid by the Company for the provision of goods and services within a period not exceeding 12 months or 01 normal production and business cycle from the time of prepayment.
- Long-term prepaid expenses: The amount the Company has paid in advance for the provision of goods and services with a term of more than 12 months or more than a normal production and business cycle from the time of prepayment; Goodwill have not yet been allocated to expenses at the reporting time.

6. Principles of Liabilities

Recognition principle: Including trade payables, prepayments from customers, internal payables, other payables and loans at the reporting time.

The classification of payables is made according to the following principles:

- Trade payables: are trade payables arising from purchases of goods, services, assets and payables upon import through entrustment recipients;
- Internal payables: payables between superior units and subordinate units without legal entity status, dependent accounting;
- Other payables: payables of non-commercial nature, unrelated to transactions of purchase, sale and provision of goods and services.

The classification of payables when preparing financial statements is as follows:

- Has a payment term of less than 01 year and is classified as a short-term debt;
- Having a payment term of more than 01 year is classified as long-term debt.

At the time of preparing financial statements in accordance with the law, the Company revaluates the balance of payables denominated in foreign currencies. Actual exchange rate when revaluating payables is the foreign currency selling rate of the commercial bank where the enterprise regularly conducts transactions at the time of making financial statements.

7. Principles of recognition of accruals:

Actual expenses that have not been incurred but are calculated in advance into production and business expenses in the period to ensure that the actual costs incurred do not cause a sudden change in production and business costs on the basis of ensuring the principle of: matching revenue and expenses. When such expenses are incurred, if there is a difference between the deducted amount, the accountant shall record additional or decrease the expenses corresponding to the difference.

8. Principles of recording loans and financial lease liabilities

The company details and tracks each loan object, each debtor, each debt contract and each type of debt asset. In case of borrowings and debts in foreign currencies, the accountant must keep track of the details of the original currencies.

Classification of loans and financial lease liabilities:

- Accounts with a repayment period of more than 12 months from the time of making the financial statements, presented by the accountants as loans and long-term financial lease liabilities.
- Accounts due to be paid within the next 12 months from the time of making the financial statements, presented as loans and short-term financial lease liabilities.

At the time of preparing the report in accordance with the law, the Company revaluates the balance of loans and finance leases denominated in foreign currencies at the foreign currency selling rate of the commercial bank where the Company regularly has foreign currency transactions at the time of the financial statements.

9. Principles of recognition of owner's equity

Owner's contributed capital is recognized according to the amount of capital actually contributed by the owner. Profits after corporate income tax are managed and distributed according to the provisions of the Company's charter.

Principles of recognizing undistributed profits

- Undistributed profit after tax is the profit from the company's activities after adding (+) or subtracting (-) adjustments due to retrospective application of changes in accounting policies and retrospective adjustments material misstatements of previous years.
- The distribution of profits from business activities of the company must comply with the current financial policy.

The Company sets aside the following funds from the Company's after-tax profit at the request of the Administrative Council and approved by the General Meeting of Shareholders:

- Investment and development fund: To serve the company's operation expansion or in-depth investment.
- Bonus and welfare fund: In order to bring general welfare.

10. Principles and methods of revenue recognition

Sales revenues

Sales revenue is recognized when the following conditions are satisfied:

- The substantial risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have passed to the buyer;
- The company no longer holds the right to manage the goods as the owner or control of the goods;
- The revenue can be measured reliably;
- The Company has received or will receive economic benefits from the sale transaction;
- Determine the costs associated with the sales transaction.

Revenue from service providers

Service revenue is recognized when the outcome of the transaction can be measured reliably. Where the provision of services involves multiple periods, revenue is recognized in the period as a result of the work completed at the balance sheet date of that period. The outcome of a service provision transaction is determined when the following conditions are satisfied:

- The revenue can be measured reliably;
- It is likely to obtain economic benefits from the transaction of providing such services;
- The work completed at the balance sheet date can be determined;
- Determine the costs incurred for the transaction and the cost to complete the transaction providing that service.

Financial income

Revenue arising from interest, royalties, dividends, distributed profits and other financial incomes is recognized when both conditions are satisfied:

- It is probable that economic benefits will flow from the transaction;
- The revenue can be measured reliably.

11. Principles of recording cost of goods sold

- Capital value of products, goods and services sold in the period.
- Provision for inventory devaluation (the difference between the provision required to be made for inventory devaluation this year and the unused provision from the previous year).

12. Principles of recording financial expenses

- Expenses or losses related to financial investment activities;
- Lendings and borrowings expenses;
- Loss due to changes in exchange rates of transactions related to foreign currencies.

The above amounts are recognized according to the total amount incurred during the period, not offset against financial income.

13. Principles of recording selling expenses

Actual costs incurred in the process of selling products, goods, providing services, including costs of offering, product introduction, product advertising, sales commission, product warranty costs products, goods (except construction activities), costs of preservation, packaging, transportation, ...

Selling expenses which are not considered as CIT calculation expenses according to the provisions of the tax law but have sufficient invoices and vouchers and have been properly accounted according to the accounting regime are not allowed to reduce accounting expenses but only adjusted in the CIT finalization to increase the payable CIT amount.

14. Principles of recording general administrative expenses

General administrative expenses are only recognized in the administrative expenses of the enterprise, including the expenses of salaries of employees of the management department (salaries, wages, allowances,...); social insurance, health insurance, trade union funding, unemployment insurance of enterprise management staff; cost of office materials, labor tools, depreciation of fixed assets used for enterprise management; land rent, license tax; provision for bad debts; outsourced services (electricity, water, telephone, fax, property insurance, fire and explosion...); other monetary expenses (reception, customer conference...).

Enterprise administration expenses are not considered as CIT calculation expenses according to the provisions of the tax law but have sufficient invoices and vouchers and have been properly accounted according to the accounting regime but only adjusted in the CIT finalization to increase the payable CIT amount.

15. Other expenses

Reflects costs incurred as a result of events or transactions that are separate from the normal operations of the business. Other expenses which are not considered as CIT calculation expenses according to the provisions of the tax law but have sufficient invoices and vouchers and have been properly accounted for according to the accounting regime shall not be recorded as a reduction in accounting expenses but only adjusted in the CIT finalization to increase the payable CIT amount.

16. Related parties

Parties are considered to be related if one party has the ability to control or exercise significant influence over the other party in making financial and operating decisions. Parties are also considered to be related if they are subject to common control or common significant influence.

The application is made in accordance with accounting standards No. 26 and Circular No. 161/2007/TT-BTC dated 31 December, 2007 of the Ministry of Finance.

17. Department report

A business segment is a separately identifiable part that is engaged in the production or provision of products or services and has risks and rewards that are different from those of other business segments.

A geographical segment is a distinct identifiable part that is engaged in the production or provision of a product or service within a particular economic environment and is subject to economic risks and rewards different from business segments in other economic environments.

The application is made according to accounting standards No. 28 and Circular No. 20/2006/TT-BTC dated 20 March, 2006 of the Ministry of Finance.

18. Financial instruments

Pursuant to Circular No. 75/2015/TT-BTC dated 18/05/2015 of the Ministry of Finance, before the accounting standards on financial instruments and guiding documents were issued, the Board of General Management of the Company decided not to present and disclose financial instruments in accordance with Circular No. 210/2009/TT-BTC in the Company's report.

19. Principles of recognizing current corporate income tax expenses

Current corporate income tax expense is the payable corporate income tax amount determined on the basis of taxable income and current corporate income tax rates.

20. Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the after-tax profit allocated to shareholders who own common shares of the Company after making allowances for bonus and welfare funds by the weighted average number of shares popular in circulation during the year.

Diluted earnings per share is calculated by dividing the after-tax profit attributable to shareholders owning the Company's common shares (after adjusting for interest recognized during the period of the convertible bonds) by the amount weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year and weighted average number of common shares that would be issued in the event that all potential common shares are dilutive converted into common shares.
